

SCFE Rebrands as Dublin College Sallynoggin

A Unified Future for Further Education

FOR decades, Sallynoggin College of Further Education (SCFE) has been a trusted choice for learners in South Dublin, known for its welcoming atmosphere, innovative teaching, and diverse range of courses.

From Art and Design to Exercise and Fitness, Social Studies and Child-care to Performing Arts, Hairdressing, Beauty Therapy, and Floristry, SCFE has helped thousands of learners to achieve their goals and progress to higher education or rewarding careers.

Now, SCFE is entering an exciting new era. As part of a national transformation under the Solas Further Education and Training (FET) Strategy, SCFE has rebranded as Dublin College Sallynoggin.

This change represents a commitment to collaboration, innovation, and excellence; to providing clearer pathways for learners and ensuring

This change represents a commitment to collaboration, innovation, and excellence continued innovation in education and training.

Why the Change?

The rebrand is driven by Dublin and Dún Laoghaire Education and Training Board (DDLETB), which is uniting all its FET services under one strong identity: Dublin College. This integration brings together colleges, training centres, and adult education services to create:

Fashion students before their Graduation ceremony

Career Guidance teachers from the IGC South Dublin Wicklow Branch attended a presentation in Dublin College Sallynoggin about the new Dublin College and unified applications system

- A wider community of excellence in education and training
- Clearer pathways and progression routes for learners
- Continued innovation aligned with future industry needs
- Best practices and cutting-edge technologies to prepare students for success

Principal Enda Kenny explains:

"This is a major transformation for SCFE. By joining Dublin College, we are part of one of Ireland's largest providers of Further Education and Training. Our students will benefit from a vast network of expertise while continuing to enjoy the supportive environment that has always defined Sallynoggin."

What Does This Mean for Students?

For learners, the transition is seamless. Courses, certifications, and the college's welcoming ethos remain unchanged. Students who began their studies at SCFE in September 2025 will leave as graduates of Dublin College Sallynoggin, with qualifications that are nationally and internationally recognised.

Explore the Full Range of Courses

Dublin College Sallynoggin offers an extensive selection of full-time and part-time programmes. Our programmes span a wide range of disciplines, including Creative arts and design, Early learning and care, Social Studies, Sport and Fitness, Travel and tourism, and Special Needs Assisting—providing learners with diverse pathways to success."

Whether you're starting a new career, upskilling, or pursuing a passion, there's a course for you.

A Fresh New Look

Alongside the name change, Dublin College introduces a new logo and visual identity.

"Our visual identity is built on the idea that Dublin College provides a platform and bridge, guiding learners from one stage of life or career to the next. Bold, simple, and clear, our design frames the transformative opportunities and diverse educational pathways we provide."

This modern design symbolizes the strength of collaboration across all campuses and the shared commitment to excellence in Further Education and Training.

Working Together for Learners

One of the most exciting aspects of this transformation is the cooperation and collaboration across all Dublin College campuses. By sharing expertise, resources, and best practices, the network can offer learners an unparalleled breadth of opportunities. From

Dublin College Sallynoggin continues its tradition of supporting learners with diverse courses specialist courses to flexible learning options, the full range of programmes is available at mydublincollege.ie—your gateway to education and training across Dublin College.

Find out more at www.scfe.ie, email reception@scfe.ie, or call 01 285 2997.

